Ladies' and Children's COATS AND SUITS

Strangers visiting this store are more than surprised at the stock carried in this department. Our customers express themselves as believing that we have enough COATS AND SUITS to coat and suit every woman and child in the county, and that is just what we prepare for each season. Others express themselves, those who see how many are sold in a busy hour, that we must soon have everybody supplied. But we know that, while hundreds have been sold, we will sell many hundreds more before the season is over. We are duplicating our best sellers every day, and ordering new things as they appear and we hear of them. The stock is complete one day-broken in sizes in some kinds the next. If you have been here and did not get fitted in just the style and price desired.

Skin Peeled Off Hands and Face -When Covered With Eczema Lost Flesh Rapidly—Tortures Endured By 17-Months-Old Boy.

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I can truthfully say that just two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent surprised me, as the skin was peeling off my baby's hands and face, and he was suffering awful. When the eczema first appeared he was very healthy, but as soon as he was covered with it, he lost flesh rapidly. But as soon as I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies he started to use the Cureura Remedies he started to mend. I keep on using the Cuticura Soap, as I think it is an indispensable article around the house. As my baby weighs thirty-seven pounds and is only seventeen months old, you can imagine the torture he endured. My neighbors can vouch for this statement as being correct. Lam respectment as being correct. I am. respectfully, Mrs. Alex. Weeks, Jr., 268 North Water St., Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 7,

CUTICURA REMEDIES Recommended for Any Kind of Skin Diseases

"I know the Cuticura Remedies to be good, and all that is claimed of them. We have used them in our family for years. I have used Cuticura Soap and the Ointment for dandruff and pimples on the face and scalp, called by some eczema, and have found them to be the best Remedies I have ever used; and I never hesitate to recommend them to any one who has any kind of skin diseases. I remain, yours very respectfully, Alice F. Broll, Moorefield, Hardy Co., W. Va., June 19, 1905.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skentical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases. Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic. A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as f did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I A. C. SPRAGUE. could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all." A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Mil-square in Spangler building. the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty conts per box.

When the chest is expanded and raised the lungs work right.

If a person can breath with ease and comfort as in these corsets, because what little pressure there is, comes around the lower ribs and hips rather than the vital organs, the heart's action is not impaired. and if lungs and heart are working in a normal way, that means Health. which is only another way of saying Beauty of Figure. MAETERLINCK ON THE SCIENCE OF SELF DEFENSE. A Tribute to the Art of Boxing, an Analysis of Human Anatomy and a Comparison of the Natural Weapons of San and the Animals. The fact is that if we examine ourselves well we must rank ourselves without vanity among the most unprotected, the most naked, the most fragde, the most brittle and flaccid beings in creation. Compare us, for instance, with the insect, so formidably equipped for attack and so fantastically armor eased. Contemplate among others the ant, upon which you may heap ten or twenty thousand times the weight of its body without apparently inconveniencing it. Consider the cockchafer, the least robust of the beetles, and weigh what it is able to carry before the rings of its abdomen crack or the casings of its fore wings yield. As for the resistance of the stag beetle, it is, so to speak, unlimited.

in comparison, therefore, we and the umjority of mammais are unsolidified beings, still in the gelatinous state and very near to the primitive protoplasm. Our skeieton alone, which is, as it were, the rough sketch of our definitive form, offers a certain consistency. But how wretched is this skeleton, which one would think constructed by a child! Look at our spine, the basis of our whole system, whose ill set vertebrae hold together only by a miracle, and our thoracic cage, which presents only a series of diagonals which we hardly dare touch with the finger tips.

Now, it is against this slack and incoherent machine, which resembles an abortive effort of nature, against this pitiful organism, from which life tends to escape on every side, that we have contrived weapons capable of annihilating us even if we possessed the fabulous armor case, the prodigious strength and the incredible vitality of

Meanwhile the study of boxing gives us excellent lessons in humility and throws a somewhat alarming light upon the forfeiture of some of our most valuable instincts. We soon perceive that in all that concerns the use of our limbs-egility, dexterity, muscular strength, resistance to pain-we have sunk to the lowest rank of the manimals or batrachians. From this point of view, in a well conceived hierarchy, we should be entitled to a modest place between the frog and the sheep. After a copious and dil atory broadside of insults and threats they seize each other by the throat and hair, make play with their feet, with their knees at random, bite each other, scratch each other, get entangled in their motionless rage, dare not let go, and if one of them succeed in releasing an arm he strikes out blindly and most often into space a series of hurried, stunted and sputtering little blows. Nor would the combat ever end did not the treacherous knife, evoked by the disgrace of the incongruous sight, suddenly, almost spontaneously, leap from the pocket of one or the other.

It is upon our instinct that we rely In the hour of danger. Upon our instinct devolve the anxiety of the attack, the care of the defense. But we have so often in daily life dismissed it from the control of affairs and from the supreme council that when its tame is called it comes forth from its retreat like oné grown old in captivity and suddenly dazzled by the light of day. What resolution will it take? Where is it to strike-at the eyes, the stomach, the nose, the temples, the throat? And what weapon is it to choose—the feet, the feeth, the hand.

He who knows the source of justice which he holds in his two closed fists has no need for self persuasion. Once and for all he knows; longanimity emanates like a peaceful flower from his ideal but certain victory. The grossest act of violence and is able to say to ail that offend him. The laws of evolution have, however. mode of life. Its gill cavities are so large that when it abandons the sea it carries in them a quantity of water which yields up the necessary supply of oxygen.

Its locomotion has been provided for: likewise, for continued use along certain lines has so developed its pectoral Has that the creature uses them as l lets and jumps along at a surprising rate of speed. Its eyes are very large and prominent and possess for a fighthe preditar faculty of looking around on an sides; hence its name, periophthalmus. These eyes are situated on: top of the animal's head and present a very profesque appearance.

The favorite food of this fish, says the Medicul Record, is a naked mollusk called onchidium. And in the matter of eyes this last mentioned creature is itself worthy of remark.

Its cephalic or head eyes are like those of other mollusks and not worthy of special mention. But its dorsal eyes, sometimes several hundfed in number. are truly remarkable. These dorsal eyes, aith migh they are very simple in structure, in type are the same as those of vertebrate animals, having cornea, leases, retina and "blind spots." In the vertebrate eye the spot where the optic nerve pierces the external tayer of the retina is sightless; hence it!

is called the "blind spot." When this mollusk sees the periophthalmus founding over the sands it contracts a thousand or so of little: of minute concretions in the face of its

We have here, it must be agreed, a very curious and a very disconcerting aberration, an initial folly, peculiar to the human race, that goes on increasing daily. In order to return to the natural logic followed by all other living things, though we be permitted to use extraordinary weapons against our enemies of a different order, we ought among ourselves, among men, to employ only the means of attack and defense provided by our own bodies. Were mankind to conform strictly to the evident will of nature, the fist, which is to man what its horns are to the bull and its claws and teeth to the lion, the fist should suffice for all our needs of protection, justice and revenge. A wiser race would forbid any other mode of combat as an irremissible crime against the essential laws of the species. At the end of a few generations we should thus succeed in spreading and putting into force a sort of panic stricken respect of human life.

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

'In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstedt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient. I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, ituniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend
